territory was given to foreign powers. Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, replied: "The Commonwealth must trust the executive department in these matters; if it is not prepared to trust the Government, the whole basis of government is destroyed."

Sir Samuel subsequently gave assurances that it was not a question of going behind the back of the Commons, but that the urgency of the situation required the Government to take steps it thought fit to try to arrive at a satisfactory settlement. He emphasized that the territorial proposals had been abandoned.

Mr. Eden and Sir Samuel parried questions as to what was the "next step," explaining it would not be wise to disclose future plans at present.

Mr. Eden, making his first public statement after his return from Rome and Paris, declined to reveal whether Mussolini said what he wanted in Ethiopia. On general European problems, however, he reported more success with Mussolini.

"We are happy able to record," he said, "an agreement on the possibility of continuing work for European appeasement in accordance with the guiding principles laid down in the London communiqué (Anglo-French) of February 3 and the Stresa resolution. There is now, therefore, reason to hope the best line of negotiation may shortly be found."

The Government emphasized that the League, on which British foreign policy is based, is endangered by the Ethiopian crisis.

SERVICE HELD AT BANDSTAND

Young People Commemorate Confederation at Beacon Hill Park

A service of praise and thanksgiving, in commemoration of the anniversary of Confederation, ushered in the Dominion Day celebrations at Beacon Hill Park, Sunday afternoon. The service, arranged for the celebration committee by the Shantymen's Church Association, Inter-School Christian Fellowship and Children's Special Service Mission, had a particular appeal for the young people. It was arranged with a view to encouraging leadership among young men and women, and consequently young leaders took an active part.

Alex McD. Hall, B.S.A. leader of the Young People's Society at Fairfield United Church, was the announcer, while the Salvation Army Band provided the music for the hymns and incidental numbers. The service was opened with the singing of "O Canada" by the young people, which was followed by a prayer by Rev. Canon Stocken. Miss Ora Jealous rendered a solo, after which Rev. James Hood led in the Bible reading.

CHORAL NUMBERS
A choral group, comprising members of the Inter-School Christian Fellowship High School students from Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich, then sang a number of sacred songs, which was followed by a short evangelical address by S. V. Ware, secretary of the Children's Special Service Mission in British Columbia.

After the address, the Salvation Army Band rendered a group of sacred numbers, followed by the singing of "Stand Up, O Men of God." At the conclusion of the hymn, George Little recited a poem suitable for the occasion, after which E. G. Marriott gave a short address also of an evangelical character. A trio, comprising Misses Netie, Rosemarie and Lillian Parfitt, then sang, after which Percy Wells, of the Shantymen's Association, gave the concluding address.

APPEAL TO YOUTHS
All the addresses called for leadership among the youths of today, and urged the young people to make a closer study of Christ's teaching and consecrate their lives to His service.

The closing hymn was "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," This was followed by the benediction and the National Anthem. J. S. Whiting had charge of the arrangements for the service, and received splendid co-operation from the Salvation Army and the band, which prior to the service rendered some beautiful sacred music.

HUNDREDS HAVE LIVELY PICNIC

Army and Navy Veterans' Club Entertains Nearly Five Hundred At Annual Outing

For nearly 500 participants in the Army and Navy Veterans' Club picnic yesterday at Deep Cove, Dominion Day was "the occasion of great excitement."

With twenty-one sports events, dancing and community singing, the day, which began at 10 a.m. and ended at 6 p.m., was active and entertaining. Eight large buses and many private cars were needed to convey the happy picnic crowd to and from Deep Cove.

Old and young were agreed the day was the best ever held by the club and all officials were profusely thanked. All sports events were keenly contested and several events were run again to determine winners. John Goss conducted a "Punch and Judy" show, much to the amusement of many youngsters, and later gave a clever sleight-of-hand exhibition.

Officials of the day were: Captain C. P. L. Money and Jack Rivers, arrangement committee. A. H. J. Jones, announcer; Captain the Rev. F. H. Buck, starter; Percy Welch, John Keith, John Mountain, Harry Winter and A. E. Dymally, judges; Charles Butler and C. E. Hutton, clerks of the course; John Bowll, recorder, and Harry Rochon, chairman of sports committee. The prizes were distributed by President J. S. Scarfe.

Heavy Rains Are Reported At Kamloops

KAMLOOPS, July 1 (C)—Rain which has fallen since yesterday has made highways in this district impassable and caused cancellation of all Dominion Day sports programmes and also the Interior lawn bowling tournament.

Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways officials reported their lines clear between here and the coast, but several small wash-outs and slides have occurred on the lines eastward.

Fifty Officers and Strikers Injured in Battle at Regina

Minneapolis, Minn.; J. Shabick, Richardson, Sask., injuries to legs and hands; C. Creighton, Tolmes, Sask., head injuries; M. Hatcher, Dauphin, Man., bullet wound in arm.

J. Rothbecker, Regina, shot in shoulder; Philip Dingman, Regina, head injuries; W. Rogers, Regina; Dan Wilson, Regina, shot in calf of left leg.

An unidentified striker, believed to be Dan McGee, was first reported dead. He was later said by hospital authorities to be living but, with virtually no chance of surviving. His head was badly smashed.

BEATEN TO DEATH

Men in the vicinity of the Market Square said Detective Miller, in plain clothes, was attacked by a group of men and slugged over the head with sticks.

Swooping out of the police station, the police squad rushed the men to the hospital. Police reinforcements were rushed by truck and on horseback after the first attack that sent the crowd milling into lanes and alleys.

The first police rally on the meeting occurred at 8:20 p.m. Swinging batons freely, the Mounted and city police took the meeting by surprise just as James Winter, a striker, was appealing to the meeting for funds. Winter said the strikers were without funds and faced starvation.

TEAR GAS HURLED

Scattered across the street, police retired to the square, which is immediately behind the city police station in East Regina. The crowd from the East Side surged back again, and police tossed tear gas bombs when they refused to scatter.

The mob began to rush for the square, as the police swooped down on them. Women started for cover, hauling children after them. Men, women and children ducked behind automobiles parked on the Market Square.

Down lanes went strikers and citizens, with police following them across the streets touching the square. Police did not chase them down the lanes, letting those get safely away if they desired.

When the crowd at the east side of the square surged back onto the meeting ground, police lines were reformed and attacked them, scattering them once again.

STRUCK WITH BATONS

Strikers, few at the meeting compared with their strength of 2,000 in the city, and citizens were slugged with batons when they refused to answer police orders to clear out.

Constable Francis, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was removed to hospital and reported badly hurt. Constable Shaw suffered head injuries.

Constables D. Dale, George Blyth and George Spill, of Regina City Police, suffered slight injuries, and Sergeant McPhee, of the city force, was cut on the face.

The meeting was called by the relief camp strikers hurriedly late today after lengthy negotiations with C. P. Burgess, director of Federal relief here.

Spending the last of their funds for meals today, the strikers were faced with removal to the Federal camp at Lumsden, thirty miles north of here, where the Government has provided food and shelter for them pending transportation to their homes in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

TENSE AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, July 1 (C)—Demonstrations by striking unemployed from Federal Government relief camps in Manitoba left Winnipeg on trigger-edge tonight. Disorders between 500 strikers, barricaded in the city's single unemployed men's dining hall ended with an armistice that had not lessened determination of campers to seek adjustment of camp conditions in a march on Ottawa.

A moral victory was counted by the strikers when civic authorities ceded to their demand for central billeting. Tents were erected at the Exhibition grounds, where meals for today were supplied by the Provincial Government. Withdrawal of

PICNIC IS HELD BY CONGREGATION

Twelve Hundred Particpate in Outing Under Leadership of Dr. Clem Davies

More than twelve hundred persons composing Dr. Clem Davies' congregation and sabbath school and many of his radio audience yesterday gathered at the Victoria Auto Camp for a picnic to celebrate the national birthday. Starting at 2 p.m. the throng thoroughly enjoyed the programme of festivities in the lovely grounds as guests of the camp management.

A programme of racing and competitive events arranged by a committee headed by George Dymally, Sr., covered the entire time of the afternoon, following which individual supper parties were grouped around the out-door camp tables.

During the afternoon, besides the races and games in which all ages participated—many enjoyed the bathing and boating facilities offered by the camp. Dr. Davies presented the prizes to the winning contestants, following the supper.

The track and sporting events extended over three hours.

THOROUGHFARES BLOCKED

For more than six hours the rebellious group fortified themselves with the building and without all entrances that they leave. Hundreds of men and women blocked adjacent thoroughfares while leaders addressed them from open windows and sympathizers threw a protective cordon about their stronghold.

Shortly before 3 o'clock this morning a truce was effected. Strike leaders agreed to leave the building when Acting Mayor John Blumberg arranged to provide tents for central billeting. Two meals for today, he promised, also would be forthcoming. Campers were elated over what they called a moral victory, gained without interference of police.

capital. The St. Princess Elizabeth took out a capacity list of 1,000 holidaymakers from Victoria to Seattle. These excursionists arrived back in time to see part of the fireworks display last night.

SUNDAY SERVICE

On Sunday a special service of thanksgiving was held at Beacon Hill Park in commemoration of Confederation.

Many went out of town for the holiday week-end, some to install themselves in their summer homes for July and August, and others just for a short camping period over the week-end. A fine breeze over the week-end made ideal yachting weather, so that many sails were to be seen off Marine Drive yesterday and Sunday.

Annual Drill Display and Prize-Giving Held in School Gymnasium

The annual drill display and prize-giving at Norfolk House School was held on Friday. Owing to the rain arrangements had to be altered at the last moment and the drill display, which was to have been held in the garden at the school boarding house, was given instead in the gymnasium, but in spite of the sudden change of plan a large number of parents and friends assembled to watch the proceedings.

An interesting display of free-standing movements, games, jumping and vaulting reflected great credit on the work of the games mistress, Miss B. J. Featherstone, and after the prizes had been presented by Mrs. John Galt, everybody adjourned to the Long Room, where tea was served.

The list of prize winners follows: Form V-S. Collier-Wright. Form IV (Upper)—H. Forbes, E. Martin, P. Fitzpatrick.

Form IV (Lower)—M. Stephens, M. Worsley. Form III (Upper)—D. Mara. Form III (Lower)—J. Douglas. Special prize for application and good work—J. Mayhew.

FIREWORKS AND MUSIC END DAY

Holiday Programme Is Concluded With Popular Features in Inner Harbor

The essential seaport character of Victoria has never been more apparent than it was last night when, in the lingering Summer twilight, the Inner Harbor, with its many evidences of seafaring life, became the stage and background of the double programme of a concert and fireworks display.

As the setting for a concert the occasion was unique. A big float, architecturally a combination of conventional stage and trussed-in court, its arches picked out with electric lights, provided the platform for the big massed choir. The slopes of the grassy embankment below Belleville Street, as well as Belleville Street itself and the Causeway, were packed with an orderly holiday crowd.

ORATORIO NUMBERS

Under Frank Tappan's direction the massed choir and orchestra gave repetitions of the splendid oratorio selections that made such a fine impression when heard recently at the Armories. "Round About the Starry Throne," "The Heavens Are Telling" (from Haydn's "Creation"), "Let Their Celestial Concerts All Unite" (from Handel's "Samson"), and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah." Another highly effective number was Paul Green's playing on the cornet of Sullivan's "Lost Chord." Less suited to the dimensions of such a huge auditorium was the refined singing of the ladies' choir composed of voices combined from the Centennial and Elgar's choirs. Very beautiful and artistic as their rendering of the Brahms "Lullaby" and "Hymn at Sea" were, they were scarcely audible beyond the immediate radius of the stage.

THE FIREWORKS

With an ear-splitting detonation, followed by a rain of fire from the ball of light tossed hundreds of feet overhead, the programme of fireworks began instantly the concert came to an end.

Weaving a glittering tapestry of changing rainbow color against the still luminous sunset, explosion followed explosion in quick succession. To an accompaniment of loud, drawn-out "Oh's" and "Ah's" from the multitudes gathered in the neighborhood, there shot into the firmament fiery stars of flame which exploded in the form of resplendent flowers and dropped flaming petals

VACATION SHOULD MEAN VACATING YOUR USUAL SURROUNDINGS

While some find it necessary or to their advantage to take a vacation in Spring, Fall or Winter, most of us find that the Summer or warm months suits our desires and convenience best.

I don't think we realize what the word vacation means. We always have in mind recreation, holidays, or not having to work, which are embraced in the vacation, but if we were to think of vacation as "vacating" or getting away from wherever we are or from whatever we are doing, I believe we would then have the right meaning of the word vacation.

There are those who think that staying away from their regular work and resting or doing likeable chores around their homes suits them better than going away to mountains, sea or other resort. And this may be true, but vacation—getting away from home and office—doesn't mean that they have to go to these resorts. What they need is to go "somewhere" away from their daily routine of life. Staying at home means that the "usual" or "regular" things will occupy their mind, and it is these "usual" or "regular" things that must be changed for "new" or "different" things or circumstances.

Further, every one of us has in mind some of the things we'd like to

WE ENGINEER EVERY SAFETY FACTOR INTO OUR CARS except TWO—ROAD AND DRIVER

This advertisement is the sixth of a series, pointing out how you can meet us half-way in making Canada's streets and highways safer.

How to get SAFE MILEAGE from Tires

ENGINEERS tell us that a set of first-grade tires will last from as low as 11,000 miles to as high as 30,000 miles or more—depending on the care we give them! And they give us these three simple rules for long, safe mileage:

1. Keep your tires inflated to the correct pressure. Tires that continually run soft wear out quickly and are easy prey to nails, tacks and bits of glass along the streets. 2. Avoid bruising the tires against curbs, ruts and holes. 3. Have your tires inspected at least once a month, for safety's sake.

The "blowout," rare as it is becoming, thanks to tire-building progress, is still something we all dread. Remember that it costs you nothing to have your tires inflated and inspected at regular intervals—and this simple care may prevent a serious mishap!

BALANCED WEIGHT

Increases Comfort and Safety
Lessens Wear on Tires

ALONG with the modern trend to streamlined designs has come scientific balancing of car weight.

And just as streamlining grew out of the public demand for automobiles styled in a modern tempo, so today's redistribution of car weight follows the popular desire for easier riding, greater ease of control, better stability at highway speeds and larger bodies. As a further result, the strain and wear on tires, axles and springs is appreciably decreased for longer life.

General Motors engineers started work on the weight problem years ago. And today's General Motors cars demonstrate in unmistakable fashion the success of their modern, fully-balanced designs.

But it's worth noting that General Motors goes much farther than merely redistributing the weight of the car to best advantage. We build KNEE-ACTION into our cars as well—because engineers and owners both agree that you can't get along without Knee-Action if you want the ultimate in a "floating" ride!

SHORTAGE OF SKILLED LABOR

It is a somewhat strange commentary on the unemployment situation that prevails in Great Britain that there should be a dearth of skilled workmen. It simply means that too few people, in some lines of endeavor at least, have prepared themselves for the struggle of life. Unemployment for many years past has simply been thought of in terms of quantity and not in its qualitative aspect. The laborer has been forcibly brought to light in Great Britain by the almost astonishing authoritative announcement that there are too few skilled workmen to fill all the jobs available. Mr. Neville Chamberlain says that "the great difficulty of the employer in many districts is not to find work for the unemployed, but to find unemployed who have the qualifications necessary to do the work which he has to offer."

The cause of this shortage of skilled workmen in Great Britain is set down, for one thing, to the "diminished disparity between skilled and unskilled wages since the Great War." Moreover, there is the fact that recently there has been a disinclination, because of unemployment, to train new recruits in skilled tasks when there seemed to be no prospective demand for them. The situation now is that industry generally has to face a shortage of skilled labor. Foresight obviously should have been exercised to meet the conditions that have arisen. Lack of it means that the trade revival now in progress in Great Britain may well be handicapped.

INDEPENDENCE FOR PHILIPPINES

As a preliminary to complete independence, the Philippine Islands have been granted a Commonwealth Government by the United States. The agitation in favor of this has been going on for the past twenty-five years, and now the United States recognizes that the Islands can be trusted to manage their own affairs for the time being under American supervision. The experiment promises to work out well and will probably do away with a lot of dissatisfaction that has been evident in recent years.

The development is discussed by The Straits Times of Singapore. This newspaper points out that the Philippine territory is a collection of islands with unsatisfactory communications, with a population of varying racial traits. Among that population there is the savage Moros of Mindanao, "not yet brought within the authority of a civilized administration, and a constant source of trouble and anxiety." The Times offers the comment that the Filipinos may find in a commonwealth what they want and may continue to recognize American sovereignty. There is doubt as to whether actual independence could be maintained, because "what one country surrenders another might be tempted to seize," and the Filipinos are in no position to defend themselves against an aggressive power.

The Islanders have received the announcement of a commonwealth with rejoicing and are now preparing for the elections which will place their own Government in power. There is recognition in the country that many benefits have accrued from American rule, particularly in trade and as affecting health measures. Trade with the United States will continue as in the past, for preferences will be retained. It is a question of the character of the leadership under the new dispensation which will determine if the Philippines will eventually become independent.

THINGS NEW AND OLD

The following opinions concerning Communism were expressed a good many years ago by a competent political authority. He was dealing with the disadvantages which attend the community of property. Property, he said, should be in a certain sense common, but as a general rule private; for when everyone has a distinct interest, men will not complain of one another, and they will make more progress because everyone will be attending to his own business. And yet among the good, and in respect of use, friends as the proverb says will have all things common . . . for although every man has his own property, some things he will place at the disposal of his friends, while of others he shares the use with them. . . . It is clearly better that property should be private but the use of it common; and the special business of the legislator is to create in men this benevolent disposition. Again, how immeasurably greater is the pleasure when a man feels a thing to be his own; for surely the love of self is a feeling implanted by nature and not given in vain, although selfishness is rightly censured. This, however, is not the mere love of self, but the love of self in excess, like the miser's love of money; for all or almost all men love money and other such objects in a measure. And further, there is the greatest pleasure in doing a kindness or service to friends or guests or companions which can only be rendered when a man has private property. These advantages are lost by excessive unification of the state. No one, when men have all things in common, will any longer set an example of liberality or do any liberal action; for liberality consists in the use which is made of property.

Communitarian legislation, he continues, may have a specious appearance of benevolence; men readily listen to it, and are easily induced to believe that in some wonderful manner everybody will become everybody's friend, especially when someone is heard denouncing the evils now existing in states, suits about contracts, convictions for perjury, flatteries of rich men and the like, which are said to arise out of the possession of private property. These evils, however, are due to a very different cause—the wickedness of human nature. Indeed, we see that there is much more quarrelling among those who have all things in common, though there are not many of them, when compared with the vast numbers who have private property.

There is a certain familiar quality in this style of writing which suggests that it might have been written last year, or a few years ago, or at least in quite recent times. In point of fact the above is extracted from a translation of part of an essay written by a man who was born in the little town of Stagira, in Macedonia, about 385 B.C., Aristotle by name.

Note and Comment

E. R. A. D.

A learned woman writes of much account in the world. A clever woman rules as much of it as lies in her neighborhood. This is much as the saying is to the men.

First, then, a woman will or won't, depend on it. If she will do it, she will, and there's an end on it.

There used to be an aphorism that the hand which rocks the cradle rules the world. A generation has risen which knows nothing about cradles, for that ancient domestic institution is on the prescribed list. The old family doctor commended it, but the old family doctor has been succeeded by a retinue of specialists. Is no more and has taken the cradle along with him. As a matter of fact, the old cradle was rocked by a foot more often than by a hand, but the implication of the phrase was that the mother of the household directed the affairs of the nation.

One of the old makers of epigrams declared that the family is the principal unit of the state; but all things change, and it may be that the family is following the cradle and the family doctor into the limbo of the dead past. Many European commentators have been impressed by the influence exercised by women upon the affairs of the United States. One observer of this phenomenon declared that while there were no kings in the republic, every woman was a queen, and her rule was absolute. So while the article of household furniture considered necessary to the proper raising of a family has been scrapped along with the doctors who helped to fill it with babies, the women remain, and some of them are going to demonstrate that in the affairs of the nation they must be considered an influential factor.

When the women were given the vote, which a majority of them did not want and did not know what to do with when they got it, that revolution did not seriously affect the political or the economic situation. The old political parties carried on their sham fighting and shadow boxing in the same old way, for the newly enfranchised voters stuck to the colors of the bosses of the conventions, and the votes of the Democratic women neutralized the ballots of the Republican women. But an issue has arisen which transcends in importance the reactionary principles of the Republicans and the radical reforms of the Democrats.

The object of the Roosevelt New Deal was to raise the prices of commodities. The cost of commodities has gone away up, but wages and incomes have not gone up correspondingly, and the women have gone up in the air. What is the nature of the ascension of the aroused women? The aroused women have reacted to one of the movements of the times. They are going on strike, they have called mass meetings and passed resolutions declaring that until the men are given more work and higher wages they will abstain from purchasing certain articles of food and everything else except the actual necessities of physical life. The American woman carries the purse, and therefore is a dictator. If she no longer rocks the cradle with her hand, she can administer a vigorous kick even to the President with her foot, and the foot of the modern mordant woman is sharply shod.

You know, and we know, how wifely women are. They will have their way. Neither an army, with banners nor a police platoon with batons—can dismay them. They have more sense than to go marching through towns or across continents in a mass, stopping occasionally to listen to speeches about human rights and social and political wrongs. They conduct a campaign for reform after the manner of the Arabs as related by Lawrence. They detect a vulnerable spot in the rank of the enemy, go forth stealthily and strike swiftly, and silently steal away, leaving no trace of their movements or indication of their whereabouts. It is possible to meet action with action. It is futile to attempt to meet inaction with action.

There will be no demands by the women on strike for the dismantling of the police as a bulwark against intimidation. There will be no resort to force; and therefore no conflict between forces organized for the purpose of maintaining the law and keeping order and forces collected for the purpose of defying the law and provoking disorder. Simple women are sometimes described by wise men as being utterly logical in their views and their actions; but women are shrewd enough to resent being subjected to arbitrary measures when such measures affect the economics of their households. The women of the United States have been made the victims of a highly arbitrary measure—the New Deal. Governmental of other nations are toying with imitation of the Roosevelt policies, and we are convinced the women everywhere are keeping their eyes open, and will deliver a swift kick to some institutions if there should be arbitrary increases in their domestic budgets.

He's a Real Club Man

The ordinary golfer carries eighteen, ten, or maybe fourteen clubs. However, Albert "Scotty" Campbell, Seattle, who won his second N.W. golf championship in the Sound City Saturday, goes to the very extreme. Yes, sir, he has a real bag full, no less than thirty-five clubs. This is hard to believe, but Jimmy Todd, Oak Bay's premier left-hander, who competed in Seattle, vouches for the truth. Jimmy told me that "Scotty" carries everything in his bag but a shovel. He has six wooden clubs, two complete sets of Bobby Jones irons, five niblicks and at least four putters. I have done a lot of caddy-ing in my day at the Oak Bay links, but if Campbell was to arrive with such a bagful, I think I would pass him up, with the caddy master's permission. "Scotty" is a real good shotmaker, but I don't think he needs that many clubs.—J.D.

He Was Going Places

Some people still seem to get a certain amount of pleasure in evading the etiquette imposed by the new "Stop-and-Go" signs. Checked as he was making his career way across Yates Street the other day, in the face of the "Stop!" signal, a debonaire young fellow sheepishly stepped back to the pavement he had just left, and, walking a few yards down the street, proceeded to jay-walk to the other side, keeping a wary eye on the constable who was. Before the signal changed, he was where he would have been had the policeman taken no notice of him in the first place.—J.E.M.B.

Pins and Needles

"A needle is sharp only at one end," states an old Chinese proverb. To this an eccentric modern world might well add: "Even a pin can keep its head!"—S.G.

The Power of the Press

"Spring Poems," bane of most newspaper editors, have their purpose in life, according to an experience related by J. F. Hildesheim at a meeting recently. He recounted an experience of two tramp printers who, in the days of Buffalo Bill, decided to set up a newspaper in a small Nevada mining town. On the way they set up some Eastern news, a stirring editorial, and a Spring poem on their small hand press to give the miners a glorious introduction to the paper about to be born. They also bought an old brass cannon which they discovered at one of the settlements en route by horse train. Attacked by Indians, the two tramp printers were at a loss for a while as to what to do to defend themselves with ammunition. However, with the inequity of most newspaper men, they loaded their old brass cannon with Eastern news dispatches. The "grape" shot drove off the Indians, but they soon came back. The editorial in the form of a saga, was next boomed out at the attacking Indians. They were repulsed, but came back for more. In desperation, the tramp printers fired off the Spring poem. The Indians, who had read the Eastern news and the editorial, but the Spring poem finished them. They never came back.—W.J.H.

Faster Than a Railroad?

When Council meetings get long and dreary and the Mayor despair of getting the business through without an extension of time, he invariably gives the fastest motion picture on the Council a nod, and business automatically speeds up at an alarming rate. This was ably illustrated recently when Alderman B. A. C. (Bob) Dewar put one of the city's by-laws through its first, second and third readings, into committee, out of committee, and finally passing in exactly thirty seconds. He was timed by the press table, and believed it to be not this is the record, which will take a long time to beat. "Bob" holds the official office of by-law mover on the Council. Alderman James Aham is the pinch hitter when "Bob" isn't there.—P.C.R.

Pavilion Hall—Messrs. Cope & Co. have leased Pavilion Hall and are making alterations with the addition of converting it into a theatre. A railway has been erected, which has been partitioned off into private boxes with a seating capacity of about 200 people. The auditorium is being renovated and all modern improvements, with three dressing-rooms attached, and law curtains and drop scenes of handsome design have been added. Near the front entrance is being built a refreshment room, where nothing but the best refreshments will be dispensed. The proprietors affirm that everything will be first class and nothing of an objectionable character produced on the stage. The alterations will be completed and the theatre will be opened by the end of the month. The first night will be given by the local amateur troupe, and the first night will be given by the local amateur troupe.

REPAIRING
OLD WHARFEnterprise Dock, Bottom of Fort Street, Catering to Small Craft

Considerable activity is noticeable these days about the old dock at the bottom of Fort Street. Well-known to old-timers, it was a busy spot years ago, but latterly has only been used occasionally. It apparently is in for a new lease of life. George Wills has decided it would make an ideal mooring and landing place for small boats of all descriptions.

Making a deal with the British Columbia Land & Investment Company, agents for the property, Mr. Wills has built a number of floats around the old wharf. He has been keeping them occupied with launches and other craft. The demand for space has been so great already, he is looking about for more room and Saturday made arrangements with the Vancouver Barge Company adjoining to use both sides of the dock. This will provide berths for four more boats.

Mr. Wills is taking an active interest in bringing boat tourists to Victoria. He has already visited Vancouver, telling boat owners there about the facilities he has for taking care of small craft in the Inner Harbor, and is preparing to go to Seattle for the same purpose.

PUTTING IN PILING
Going further, a contract has been let to the James McDonald Construction Company to drive new piling under the new building while David Burnett will make repairs to the roof and put in a new seawall. Enterprise Wharf, as it will be known in future, will be made a centre for motorboat tourists visiting Victoria. It is also, in Mr. Wills' opinion, an ideal place for taking waterfront pictures, the fine sunsets from the dock appealing particularly to the amateur photographer.

COMING HERE
FROM ORIENTCanada Due Tomorrow—
Excursions Well Patronized—
Alexander Sailing

From the Philippine Islands, by way of China, Japan and Hawaii ports, the Canadian Pacific liner, Ss. Empress of Canada, is due here early tomorrow morning. The big liner is bringing in a large number of passengers, among them being Douglas Fairbanks and Lady Sylvia Ashley.

Ferry boats and bus lines were busy over the holidays, excursionists turning out in large numbers to go to different places. The regular ferries were all well patronized, while the excursion out to Seattle yesterday on the Ss. Princess Elizabeth carried a capacity number of holiday trippers. There being 1,000 tickets sold, the excursion from Vancouver, arriving here shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, brought in 900 in all from the mainland. City on the Ss. Princess Margaret. The ship left here on the return trip at 6 o'clock.

Tomorrow there will be a combined land and water regular from Victoria around the Gulf Islands. Buses of Vancouver Island Coach Lines will leave the local depot at 9 o'clock and the motor vessel Cy Peck will leave Seattle Bay one hour later. The Cy Peck will proceed through Gulf Island waters to Bedford and Ganges Harbors.

Bound for California ports, the Pacific Steamship Lines Ss. H. F. Alexander will be here for two hours tonight. The H. F. Alexander is due to arrive at Rutherford from Seattle at 8 o'clock and scheduled to sail at 10 o'clock for San Francisco, her first port of call to the South Island and Mainland passengers will join the liner here.

FAST TRAIN
IN GERMANY"Dashing Colonne" With Diesel-Electric Engine
Makes Speedy Run

BERLIN, July 1. (AP)—Nazi unveiled their latest in railroad engineering today, the new super-streamlined "Dashing Colonne," which streaked the 333 miles between Cologne and Berlin in five hours and nine minutes.

This was not a record, but engineers claim the cream-and-violet-colored Diesel-electric engine can reach a top speed of 120 miles an hour, and is, therefore, the world's fastest train. It pulled two coaches holding eighty-one passengers.

(The Burlington's "Zephyr," last year, traveled from Denver to Chicago, 1,015 miles, at an average of 77.6 miles an hour, and attained a top speed of 112.5 miles an hour.)

CLEANING DEVICE
A three-fold brake system protects passengers on the "Dashing Colonne," and one of its new features is a cleaning device for removing insects which smash against the engine's window.

Thirteen new twin-car trains, including the "Flying Colonne," are to be put into operation this summer. A number of super-streamlined locomotives are also under construction. The first of these rail

New York Day by Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 1.—Thoughts while strolling: That depressing atmosphere of a restaurant slowly failing. Waiters standing around to watch your every mouthful. Alone in a wilderness of tables. Uncertain butler. Dumb waiter. Those dumb stories they pin on Sam Goldwyn—dumb like a fox!

Look alike: Hoover and Humpty Dumpty. And London's C. B. Cochran is another reminder of Hobbs, the grocer, in Fauntleroy. The Brevoort has the best sidewalk shopping trade. Goldie Burgess says: Criticizing a Frenchman is like trying to straggle out the kinks of a rattlesnake.

One-word description of Marilyn Miller—twirly. Does anyone know Leon and Eddie's last names? The hiccup names. Garlock Fash. What's become of Floyd Dell? The doorman with the weeping eye in front of that 57th Street Russian cafe.

Wonder if Pearl, Frank and Gene Buck know each other? Hannah Dempsey always ambulates with a cane. Those smart ones with loose lips talk like Leo Dietrichstein. How Fannie Hurst can despise the English!

Hotly-winded biography: "Catherine." The human note: "I think I'll use this razor blade just once all hard by on camp chairs. Look—extremely self-conscious. But arty.

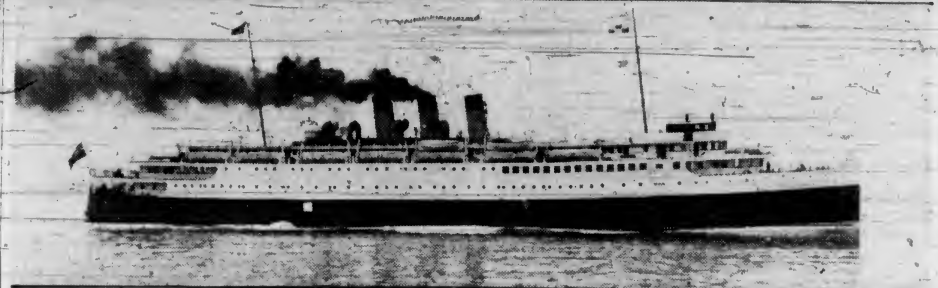

Glooms: Woman with a baby in arms at midnight. Ceiling flowers. Beach sleepers covered with newspapers. Gent at theatre reading a newspaper. Blank sheet in the typewriter near the deadline. A letter opener, lying in a mud puddle. "Her" letter. Old lady making love to a gigolo. Secondhand bookshop—10 cents each. Your book. A horse overcome by heat in the street. A clock that has stopped. An emigrant with a carpet bag and box tied up with rope. Yesterday's customer pie.

They were talking at the Coffee House Club of the depression—or the crisis as they now call it—in England and on the Continent—and a learned fellow in philosophy produced a specific disease of mendacity among previously self-respecting citizens. He cited stages. 1. Grateful thanks for help. 2. Help taken for granted, no thanks. 3. No help rendered. 4. Historic melancholy, and poses, whines and affected pathos. 5. Actual lying about conditions. 6. Demands that have the time of threat. 7. Stealing. And at his conclusion, he said: "None of us enduring these worst phases can probably say we would not succumb to the various gradations."

I notice chateaubriand is becoming increasingly conspicuous on the New York menu cards. Many trips to Europe have not taught me exactly what it is. But one thing is almost certain: To order it will, nine times out of ten, bring a tender, juicy steak. Theodore tells me that most out-of-towners, bewildered at the process of ordering, fall back on a planned steak, and for dessert ask for a baked Alaska. Then there is the process of the flimsy gourmet such as Harry Lehr. He rarely ordered. He went where the maître d'hôtel was an expert and left everything to him. And no one ever dined so well. Among America's most famous in the art of selecting an excellent dinner was the late Nicholas Longworth.

Don Herold tells of the woman bus passenger hurrying into a restaurant stop for a quick cup of coffee. It was too hot to handle. So an observing and gallant longhorn next to her shoved his cup over with: "Take mine, m'am. It's been sauced and blowed."

United Air Lines
Flyers Complete
Huge Aggregates

Four Pacific Northwest pilots of United Air Lines yesterday were disclosed as members of what probably ranks as one of the most exclusive organizations in the world—a "million-air" club in which a million dollars cannot buy a membership. To be eligible for membership in the club a pilot must have completed 1,000,000 miles or more of flying. Forty of United's 150 veterans who fly the company's routes between the Northwest, California and the East already have qualified. Those based in the Pacific Northwest are Ralph Virden, Heber C. Miller, Grover Tyler and Herschel V. Laughlin. Several of the "million-air" members who began flying the air mail in 1918, 1919 and 1920 have well in excess of a million miles. The average individual experience of United's entire flying staff is approximately 7,000 hours, or the equivalent of approximately 900,000 air miles.

CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

International Limited Completed Thirty-Five Years of Service Yesterday

MONTREAL, July 1.—Railway trains like kings, commoners and quinquiplets, have their birthdays and state occasions. July 1 denotes the thirty-fifth anniversary of the first running of the International Limited, Canadian National Railway flyer, which has been in continuous daily operation between Montreal and Chicago since July 1, 1900, and is still going strong.

During the thirty-five years the International Limited has traveled 21,715,760 miles, carrying approximately 2,500,000 passengers on its 25,556 trips. Over part of the route there are severe winter conditions of frost and snow which render steaming difficult, and yet, despite this annual handicap, the train has a record of 82.3 per cent "on time" performances during the entire period.

AVERAGE SPEED
Allowing for "dead time" caused by necessary station halts, the train maintains an average speed of fifty-two miles per hour. To attain that average and to take up time spent at stations for the movement of passengers, transfer of mails and express, the train must operate at

The cost of living, which reached its peak in 1920, has declined, but on the 1913 basis it is still much higher than the price of gasoline. In 1934 the cost of living was 20.7 per cent higher but the price of gasoline was 28.4 per cent lower than in 1913. The data for this graph are based on figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

LIVING COSTS MORE BUT
GASOLINE COSTS LESS

THE cost of living in Canada in 1934 was approximately 21 per cent higher and the price of gasoline—28 per cent, lower, than in 1913. The price of gasoline never rose to as high a peak as did the cost of living. Since 1920 gasoline prices have declined almost continuously to the present low level.

Imperial Oil has always sought for economical ways of doing business and has always passed on to the consumer the benefits of such economies. Imperial Oil operates on a very small profit and in 1934 earned an average of slightly more than one-half of one cent per gallon on gasoline.

Not only is gasoline cheaper than ever—it is better than ever. Imperial Oil research laboratories played a leading part in developing fuels for modern motors. Imperial gasoline of 1935 is a far better gasoline than that of 1913 yet it sells at a price considerably lower.

BOSTON, July 1 (AP)—With Wes Ferrell pitching effective ball in the pinches for his eleventh victory of the season, the Boston Red Sox turned back the Washington Senators, 6-3, today and boosted their percentage to an even .500. The Senators outlived the Sox, 13 to 9, but Ferrell kept the blows well spaced, hurling scoreless ball the last six innings. R. H. E. CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—A revised White Sox lineup that didn't include Al Simmons, $27,500-a-year outfielder who hasn't been hitting, turned back the St. Louis Browns, 4-1, in the opening game of the series today.

A nine-hit attack, featured by Rip Radcliff's eighth homer, a triple and double by Zeke Bonura and doubles by Vernon Washington and Sam Piet, gave Sam Jones and Wyatt the edge over Sugar Cain and Elton Walkup.

Jones, making his first start since he injured his arm May 22, received credit for his fourth victory, although he tired in the seventh and Wyatt was called in with two men on base. R. H. E. St. Louis 1 6 9 Chicago 4 1 1 Batteries—Cain, Walkup and Hemley; Jones, Wyatt and Shea.

SAINTS DEFEAT
NORTH SHORE XI

VANCOUVER, July 1 (AP)—St. Salvator's marched into the third round of the Dominion Football Cup series today, when they downed North Shore, 4-1.

Shortly after the opening whistle Waugh cut into centre, rounded Muir and pelted across the goalmouth. Ashton came in fast, but his shot hit the goalpost. A few minutes later Bradbury picked up the sphere at the penalty line and drove it into the corner of the net.

A long pass to centre, late in the half, gave Bob McMurdo his chance, and he whipped it into goal to put the Saints two up.

North Shore counted their lone goal just after resumption, McMurdo scoring a first-time.

Moffatt snapped in the Saints' third goal on a pass from Bradbury, and the pair reversed the procedure for Bradbury to drive home the final tally in the game.

chairman and in his opening remarks explained the purpose of the ceremony to the large gathering of citizens. The speakers' voices were carried to the thousands present through a system of loudspeakers fitted on the illuminated barge, which provided a Venetian-like setting.

The alderman said that since the awarding of the best citizen appreciation medal had been instituted by the Victoria Post of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of British Columbia, medals had been presented to Miss Mary Lawson, Captain Ian St. Clair, Mrs. R. P. Bickert, Mrs. William Grant and the late Fred Landsberg.

W. H. Kinsman, prior to announcing the recipient of the gold medal, thanked all who had sent in names of those they thought deserving of the honor. The Native Sons and Native Daughters, he said, considered that some form of recognition should be provided for those who gave the most useful and unselfish service to their fellowmen during the year, and for this reason the annual award of the best citizen medal had been arranged.

UNBIASED COMMITTEE

In order that the choice should be made in an unbiased manner, a special committee, entirely separate from the two Victoria Posts of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of British Columbia, had been formed to consider the names submitted. Many deserving citizens had been mentioned in this year's honor list, but the name of Captain Gadsden shone out above the rest, it was felt, because of his totally unselfish service to humanity.

Mr. Kinsman at this point announced the recipient's name, and then, in an unbiased manner, a special committee, entirely separate from the two Victoria Posts of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of British Columbia, had been formed to consider the names submitted. Many deserving citizens had been mentioned in this year's honor list, but the name of Captain Gadsden shone out above the rest, it was felt, because of his totally unselfish service to humanity.

DEBT OF GRATITUDE

"Captain Gadsden has been unremittent in the task he set himself to perform, and every citizen owes him a debt of gratitude for the wonderful service he has rendered. Also those who have been associated with him in this work are deserving of the highest commendation, and I understand there have been as many as one thousand associated with him at one time or another."

"It is, therefore, very gratifying to me to be privileged to take part in a ceremony arranged to give recognition to this marvelous service," the Mayor concluded.

The Mayor then called upon Miss Smethurst, handed the box containing the gold medal, and the chief factor of the Victoria Post of the Native Daughters of British Columbia pinned the medal on Captain Gadsden's coat lapel.

RECIPIENT REPLIES

Captain Gadsden, in acknowledging the honor bestowed upon him, said: "Words are totally inadequate to express my thanks for the kind thoughts and wishes of the citizens who feel that I am worthy to receive so great an honor as you have bestowed upon me tonight."

"Any work that I have done has been with the wish to help my fellowman in these difficult times, but I have only been able to do so by the help of the businessmen, officials and private citizens of Victoria and the surrounding districts," he asserted.

"I will prize this beautiful memento as long as I live, and I hope that, with the guidance of the Almighty, I may be enabled to do better things in the future," he declared.

When the Mayor had concluded his remarks and Miss Smethurst was pinning the medal upon Captain Gadsden, the guests applauded the recipient heartily, and many indicated their appreciation by cheering.

The ceremony was opened by the massed choir singing the "Maple Leaf Forever," led by Frank Tupling, and accompanied by an orchestra led by Alfred Prescott.

He came to Canada in the Summer of 1904 and made Winnipeg his home, where he and his father were engaged in hay, feed and jobbing business for several years. In 1907 he applied for a homestead in the Columbia River Valley near Golden, B.C., and proved up in 1910.

Captain Gadsden came to Victoria in the Winter of 1910 with his parents. With a partner, he bought a light team and commenced in the transfer and express business. They built up the business until the Great War broke out, when they were operating five vehicles under the name of the Northern Cartage & Transfer Co., Ltd.

WAR SERVICE
He enlisted in the 2nd C.M.R. (30th B.C. Horse) and left Victoria with that unit, being a trooper in "C" Squadron under Major Walker. He proceeded to France with the 2nd C.M.R.s, from where he was given a commission in Kitchen's forces (Imperial) and posted to heavy field Royal Garrison Artillery (six pounders), with which he served in France and Belgium, the Somme, Ypres and Passchendaele being the principal events. He was wounded at the Passchendaele front and was repatriated to Canada in 1918. He engaged in the fuel business in Victoria as the Island Wood Co., Ltd., until 1925.

Captain Gadsden is identified with a number of organizations. In addition to being manager of Sunshine Inn, he is vice-president and chairman of the finance committee of the Victoria City Temple, a director of the Central Exchange, a committee member of the Vancouver Island Tourist Trade Development Association, a member of the executive of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, and a member of the following bodies: Victoria Welfare Foundation, Camosun Lodge No. 60, A.F. & A.M.; Columbia Lodge No. 2, Independent Order of Odd Fellows; Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.; Canadian Legion District Council; 5th B.C. Gift Fund Is Commenced At Ottawa

The following letter from Lady Perley, of Ottawa, has been received relative to the fund which is being established in connection with the proposed gift from the women of Canada to Lady Bessborough prior to her leaving Government House at Ottawa:

"At an executive meeting held on June 24 it was decided to call the fund 'The Lady Bessborough Gift Fund.' Cheques should be made out or endorsed in that way.

"It was decided also to give something in Canadian gold with the Dominion coat of arms on one side, an inscription on the other, surrounded by the coat of arms of the different provinces. It would be a beautiful souvenir of their Excellencies' stay in Canada and would last for all time. The size would, of course, depend on the amount of money collected. The names of all those donating would be submitted to Her Excellency, but not the amounts individually contributed."

INDIVIDUAL GIFTS
All individual contributions may be sent direct to Ottawa, addressed as follows: "The Lady Bessborough Gift Fund, Care of Lady Perley, Ottawa, Canada," or women's organizations may, if they so desire, start subscription lists within their own membership and forward the total contributions to Lady Perley, addressed as above.

It is pointed out that it is more desirable that a great number of

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

VICTORIA

The Garden Club of the Victoria Women's Institute, under the convener'ship of Mrs. S. Blair, has completed arrangements for its annual garden party, to be held tomorrow at the home of Mrs. L. Schmeitz, 1100 Finlayson Avenue. If the weather is unfavorable, the amusements will be held at the home of Mrs. J. L. White, the institute president, who will open the party at 2 p.m. As this is the final affair of the club for the summer, members and friends are asked to attend. Bridge will be arranged in the evening, and those intending to play are asked to telephone before 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Paris Engagement

PARIS, July 1 (AP).—The engagement of Miss Marie Jose Laval, daughter of Premier Pierre Laval, and Count Rene-Adelbert Pineton de Chambrun, son of General and the Countess de Chambrun, was announced Saturday. The date for the wedding has not yet been fixed, but the countess said it probably would be in the autumn.

The brunette beauty of Miss Laval, who is twenty-three, is widely known. She has accompanied her father on many diplomatic trips. Count de Chambrun, twenty-eight, is a lawyer. The young couple will make their home in Paris.

Library Has Travel Club For Children

Another Travel Club in the children's room of the Victoria Public Library has been formed, and within the past few days over seventy members have been enrolled.

There are no formal meetings connected with the club; all each child has to do is to keep a diary or few notes of the books on other lands that he reads. In exchange at the end of the summer, the library presents the child with a map, upon which is placed a star for each book read, the star being to extend reading horizons and to provide a background of understanding for world neighbors.

Children interested in becoming members of the club may do so by communicating with the library.

Programme By Dancers Enjoyable

The gymnasium of Cranleigh House School was filled to capacity with a highly appreciative audience when Miss Mollie Milton presented her dancing class in its first recital.

The outstanding features of the performance of all the children were the near perfection in technique, a wonderful sense of timing and rhythm, and a joyous abandon which was quite natural, not "staged."

Interpersed in the programme were two pianoforte solos by Mrs. Stone, the gifted pianist who accompanied all the dances, and two charming recitations, "Mr. Nobody" by May Shrimpton, and "Nine Times Six" by Mary Lister.

The costumes were appropriate, with colors that added much to the charm of the little dancers' efforts. The opening number, "Examples of Class Work," presenting juniors and seniors, gave a good idea of the thoroughness of the training received. "Black Nags," an English folk dance, by Audrey Murdoch, Myrtle Skelton, Ruth McNelly, May Shrimpton, Margaret McMartin and Mary Clark, was performed with exactness and precision.

SOLO DANCE

Miss Milton treated the gathering to three solo dances. "A Russian Peasant Dance," full of swift action and colorful grace; "Staircase Tap," introducing a complicated series of difficult steps executed while standing and descending a flight of stairs; and finally, a classical "Pas Seul," in which the young instructor, charming in white ballet dress, danced with such perfection of technique and charm that she won round after round of applause.

A difficult dance for young performers, "Skipping Redova," was ably presented by Myrtle Skelton, Audrey Murdoch, Hilda Tinker, Mary Clarke and Joan Rogers. Audrey Patrick, a talented little artist, sang and danced right into the hearts of the audience in her two solos, "Waltz Clog" and "Lullaby of Broadway."

Myrtle Skelton and Audrey Murdoch were Dutch twins, in a clog dance which was effective in its simplicity.

The smallest of the pupils, Doris Shrimpton, Betty Jamieson, Ann Rogers and Marilyn Jings, four tiny little collectors, danced an Irish lilt with a naivety and wit, a seriousness, that were delightful.

Audrey Murdoch, the soloist for this number, performed in a highly creditable manner.

"The Tarantella," a wild dance with its gypsy setting and vivid coloring, and changing tambourines, was danced with splendid abandon by Mary Clarke and Joan Rogers.

These girls, who had for girl-partners Patsy Robertson and Joan Gibson.

The group dancing that earned the most hearty applause was a chorus tap, "Sidewalks of New York," by Margaret McMartin, Audrey Patrick, Mary Clark, Myrtle Skelton, Audrey Murdoch and May Shrimpton.

The whole gathering later adjourned to the school, where refreshments were served by Mrs. Milton, assisted by a group of ladies from the audience.

CHAPTER VIII

"Well," Stephen began. "There was a short, thoughtful pause. 'In a way, yes, Elinor's beautiful and she'd be a very lovely wife to show off. A wonderful wife for a man. But I want more than that. And yet... one of these days I'll forget what I want and ask her to marry me.'"

"If some one else doesn't before you do," Noel got up. "Let's swim back now. It's lunch time and I want to be on my good behavior with Aunt Jessica."

He shook his head and laughed at her.

"Funny little girl, you are, Noel. All right, let's swim back, but don't show me up by getting to the shore first."

That was Saturday. On Sunday night Elinor came up to Noel's room and asked, "What clothes are you taking with you on the boat?"

"I hadn't thought of it," said Noel, "some white duck pants, I guess, and sweaters, and an evening dress."

"I don't see why we don't wear our evening clothes every night. They are the most becoming thing for me. Did I tell you? Aunt Jessica went to town yesterday and brought me the slickest outfit. Blue silk pyjamas with a white silk coat."

Noel grinned. "I'll stay in my bathing suit most of the time, so it doesn't matter."

"Aren't you excited? Well, darling, I've got to pack now. We've got to get up at four. Don't awaken Aunt Jessica. Stephen is sending a car for us."

"It's lucky he has several."

Noel put into the old suitcase her old sports things that had seen so many years of useful wear at Summer camp, and not into bed. Everything in her life was so distorted so horrible mixed up! Perhaps this cruise would bring to a climax or end many problems that perplexed her.

The little clock beside her bed went off at 4 o'clock. She turned it off and lay there thinking. "This is the day. Scott is coming along, too. 'She got up, took a cold bath, and put on a brown jersey dress, low-heeled white slippers, and white socks.'"

It was 5 o'clock when she went to the window and looked out. It was still dark, but faint streaks of light were beginning to break through. Far down the road she could see faintly Stephen's yellow car and its three occupants and chauffeur. Out in the river the white yacht waited in readiness.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

TEACHING PROVES HER DOWNFALL

A well-known bridge teacher, who was in New York last week to attend the convention of the Culbertson National Studios, an organization of 4,000 bridge teachers, told me a good story on herself.

She was coaching a beginner in the fundamentals of the game, and her pupil was taking to contract enthusiastically, studying avidly and playing in tournaments as often as possible. In the course of one of the lessons, teacher and several pupils were playing and the beginner made an opening lead of the ace from A Q 6 4 2, against a three-trump contract. The teacher pointed out that from such a holding the proper lead against no trump contracts is the fourth highest card.

The following night, both were playing in a tournament. The teacher and her partner, also a fine player, were pitted against the pupil and a novice partner on the following deal:

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

East—South West North
Pass 1 (1) 1 (2) 1 (3)
Pass 1 NT Pass 2 NT
Pass 3 NT Pass Pass

1. The correct distribution for an opening one-no-trump bid, but not quite strong enough in honor-tricks.

2. The four-card suit is so strong that West is justified in overcalling, even vulnerable.

3. North should have doubled; it is worth more to set a vulnerable team two tricks, doubled, than to make a game not vulnerable.

THE PLAY

The final contract of three no trump by South having been settled, West unhesitatingly led the eight of hearts. She remembered the advice concerning fourth-highest openings, and the teacher had not yet taught her the rules governing sequence leads.

The eight of hearts defeated the contract; no other card in West's hand could have. Had West made the conventional opening lead of the heart king, it would have dropped East's singleton ten, giving dummy a second stopper after South took her ace.

The teacher is inclined to be rather mournful about the entire matter. I sympathize with her. It is quite discouraging to have a misinterpretation of one's own teaching lead to one's downfall.

TOMORROW'S HAND

East dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

How high would you go with the West hand after your partner had opened with a club, shown two no trump, helped your hearts and bid four no trump? See our column of tomorrow for answer.

Vancouver Footballers Defeat Saanich Thistles in Cup Competition, 2 to 0

Rangers Move Into Next Round by Win Over Victoria Side

Goal in Each Half by Harvey, Centre Forward, Gives Mainlanders Decision Over Lone Local Entry in Connought Cup Series—Thistles Sadly Off Form—Goalie Is Injured

Smashing home a pair of beautiful goals, one in each half, Trevor Harvey, tall, aggressive centre-forward, who plays his position well, sent the Vancouver Rangers home with a 2-0 victory over Saanich Thistles in one of the British Columbia play-off matches in the Connought Cup series for the Canadian football championship, last evening at the Royal Athletic Park. A crowd estimated at about 1,000 watched the suburban eleven try miserably to win their way past the young Mainland soccer aggregation.

The holiday attraction was marked by serious head-injuries to Stan Strong, brilliant young Vancouver defender, who was kicked just behind the ear during a scuffle in front of his goal, in the second half. He was forced from play after the game had been halted for five minutes, and taken to the hospital for observation. A slight concussion was the report from medical observers. Strong, however, left the hospital last night and returned to Vancouver from the right line. The inside forward, was also taken out of the game in the final canto when he suffered a bad ankle injury. He will be X-rayed on the Mainland today.

PEARCE, MILLER DIVIDE HONORS

PORT WILLIAM, July 1.—Bob Pearce, of Hamilton, Ont., world's sculling champion, and Billy Miller, United States titlist, divided rowing honors at a regatta here today to celebrate opening of the Western link of the trans-Canada highway.

Pearce won the three-mile event handsily in 18 minutes, 13.3 seconds. The mile race went to Miller in a close finish. The time was 6 minutes, 43.1-2 seconds.

RECORD BROKEN

TORONTO, July 1.—A Dominion record was broken today at the Ontario women's track and field championships here when Gladys Taylor, tall junior from the Hamilton Olympic Club, threw the discus eighty-six feet one inch to better the existing Canadian junior mark by five and one-half inches.

The former mark was set by Nettie Anderson, of Falton, Alta., in 1931 at Wetaskiwin, Alta.

Nanaimo Takes Football Match By 4 to 3 Score

NANAIMO, July 1.—Nanaimo advanced to the third round of the Connought Cup football series here today by beating out Johnston Nationals, of Vancouver, by a 4 to 3 score. It was a hard-fought game, with Gordie Bell, Victoria winger, garnering the winning goal with a beautiful shot five minutes from the finish.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

By Ripley

Twice Chalmers was caught out of position with the Rangers pressing hard, but Esler and Williams saved the situation nicely by their smart clearances. After being on the defensive for the greater part of the game, Chalmers broke in the clear with the Thistles staged a fine passing movement, but Esler cleared back to break the attack by kicking away a corner. It was a great flag kick by Viggers, but Strong rushed out to take care of it. Spencer was next to test Chalmers, but the local goalie was sound, and then Billy McNeill tried a long shot, which was easily cleared.

GOALIE INJURED

The Thistles forced another corner, but it proved fruitless against a strong and steady Rangers' defense. "Wagland" tested Strong with a fast, low shot, but the Vancouver netminder saved brilliantly, while Morgan got away fast on the counter play, shot the ball to Campbell, but the attack was smothered nicely. Campbell missed twice in rapid succession and then Viggers' corner was cleared by Murray West, just before the interval.

GOALIE INJURED

In the early minutes of the final period, with the Thistles pressing, Strong was kicked when he fell to the ground to smother the ball. After a five-minute delay he left the game, and Esler assumed the role of goalkeeper. Fred Price went in the game for Dunlop, and then McKay was hurt when he collided with Legge and he left the field. Strong was in the game in Esler's place and Johnson came on for McKay.

GOALIE INJURED

Johnson hit the side of the net as the game resumed, with the local goalie well beaten, and then Harvey scored the final marker with a first-thriller from four feet out with Chalmers out of position, after he had lost possession of the ball. Thirty minutes had ticked away when this goal came. Ten minutes later, Victoria was given a penalty, awarded against Gemmell for hands, but Campbell shot the ball straight at Goalsie Esler, and it was the Thistles' last hope of mak-

VETERANS TO MEET SELECT NINE, JULY 10

Fred McGinnis Lines Up Former Stars to Battle Commercial League

BASEBALL stars of a few years ago, whose playing is still fresh in the memory of many ball fans who trek weekly, or perhaps nightly to the enclosure, will be seen in action at the Royal Athletic Park on Wednesday, July 10, when Manager Fred McGinnis holds down the Commercial League in an exhibition fixture.

Amateur to demonstrate in decisive fashion that the old adage, "Youth must be served," is all wrong and does not go in baseball. Manager McGinnis, veteran backstopper, has rounded up a club, which he says will take the youngsters for a ride. Many of his players were stars of a few years ago and are already throwing the kinks out of their limbs and undergoing serious training for the game.

FORMIDABLE TALENT

Art Wester, flashy first-sacker, will be in his old spot on the initial bag, with Herb Cummins covering the second cushion. Jack McKenzie, who played shortstop for the Elks and many other clubs, will form the outfield, and the veteran "Hap" Gandy will be at the hot corner.

FORMIDABLE TALENT

Elmer Smith, Murty Dunn, Tommy Wachter and H. Devereaux will form the outfield, and the veteran "Hap" Gandy will be at the hot corner.

FORMIDABLE TALENT

The Commercial Baseball League All-Star squad has been selected as follows: T. Restell, E. Erickson, H. Harris, "Red" Palmer, R. Casey, Bert Nex, G. Gandy, "Scotty" Robinson, "Red" Bannison, A. Chapman, A. Barwell, Walter Scott, Henry Woodford, "Sonny" Walker, Lloyd Jones and "Wack" Osman.

FORMIDABLE TALENT

Owens Hitting the Tape

Ohio State's one-man track team, Jesse Owens, of Cleveland (lower right), is shown winning the 100-yard dash at the 1935 United States college meet at Berkeley, Cal. He staged one of the most spectacular individual performances in track history by romping off with four firsts—in the broad jump, century, 220-yard dash and 220-yard low hurdles. Peacock, of Temple, trailed Owens to the tape in the 100-yard race, Ohio State won second place, due entirely to the wins of Owens.

MITCHELL SCORES CENTURY IN TEST CRICKET

Transvaal Batsman Displays Fine Form As Match Continues

Scores 101 and Causes England to Worry as Team Registers 208 for Loss of Six Wickets—England Dismissed for 198 in First Innings—Calaskas Bows Well.

LONDON, July 1.—A fine century by Bruce Mitchell, cautious Transvaal opening batsman, and clever bowling by Xenophon Calaskas, young Border Province Greek, gave England plenty of cause for worry as the "Home Country" and South Africa prepared for the third and final day's play in the second test cricket match at Lord's.

The Springboks gained a 30-run lead on the first innings today when they dismissed England for 198 runs. Going to the wickets a second time, the touring players had obtained 808 runs for six wickets when play closed for the day.

Fighting for their first test win on English soil, the South Africans more than held their own. Balaskas, playing in his first test match, was the chief factor in England's poor showing, capturing five wickets for 49 runs. Mitchell, whose regular play in the cricket world, adopted the right tactics, and after opening the Springboks' second innings with 134 runs, he was unbeaten at the close with a score of 129.

Warm, sunny weather prevailed for the second day's play, and during the afternoon the attendance reached 30,000.

WYATT SCORES 33

"Bob" Wyatt, whose sparkling 140 featured the opening drawn test at Nottingham, went to the wickets with Wally Hammond when England's first innings was resumed in the morning with the score at 198 for two wickets. The English captain carried his score to 53, and the Gloucestershire star reached 27

GASMEN TAKE BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE BILL

Defeat Sons of Canada 10-0 And 14-7 in Baseball.

Fixtures

HAMMERING the offerings of the Victoria Gasmen, the Sons of Canada were defeated 10-0 and 14-7 in baseball.

The first wicket fell at 32 when Siedle was taken by Farrington at the wickets off Tom Mitchell. Despite this early success, the Derbyshire trundler failed to keep a good length and he proved expensive. Verity bowled splendidly, and at one stage sent down four overs from which the batsmen failed to score.

Langridge and M. S. Nichols also helped to keep the score down. Tea was taken with the score at 117 for one wicket. E. A. B. Rowan left soon after the interval after scoring 44. He was out lbw to Nichols.

After Rowan's dismissal wickets fell rapidly, but Mitchell stuck to his guns. He gave one chance in his last innings, at 101, when he was missed by E. R. T. Holmes, the Surrey captain. E. L. Dalton and Herbert Wade, South African captain, both fell victims to Verity's wily bowling before they had scored. Langton helped Mitchell to put England's first innings play closed, but the touring bowler was very uncom-

Victoria "Rep" Side Defeats Mainlanders In Inter-City Match

Reg Wenman Scores 147 Runs as Locals Chalk Up 295 to 186 Victory Over Vancouver—Quainton and J. Payne Bat Well—Scott Top Bat

Brilliant batting by Reg Wenman, Victoria batsman, who scored 147 runs before being stumped, paved the way to an easy victory for the Capital City "rep" side over Vancouver, yesterday at the University School grounds in the first of the annual inter-city cricket matches for the British Columbia championship. Victoria scored 295 runs for the fall of six wickets and declared. Vancouver followed to bat and replied with 186 runs, giving the local side victory by a margin of 109 runs.

Composed for the greater part of young cricketers, the local eleven played a sound game all of the way. The batsmen punished the Vancouver bowling, while in the field Victoria played well.

BATS WELL

Eric Quainton, who has put on a number of good scores this season, was in good form again yesterday and hit freely for forty-nine runs before being caught and bowled by Roughton. G. Payne, promising young cricketer and son of Ben G. Payne, was also in good form, contributing a useful and well-played forty-six.

W. G. Scott, who was run out after scoring fifty-nine runs, was the Mainland's high bat. P. Bradfoot scored forty-nine before being caught by Wenman. L. Johnson and A. Roughton, with twenty-six and twenty-four, respectively, were the only other Vancouver batsmen who made anything like a score.

The second match of the series will be played at Brockton Point on Labor Day, Monday, September 2. The scores:

THE OLDEST PILOT IN U.S.A.

WALTER UPWARD, OF HOLLYWOOD, CAL., IS THE OLDEST PILOT IN THE U.S.A. HE WAS 78 YEARS OLD ON JUNE 22ND.

AFTER 23 HOURS OF DUAL INSTRUCTION HE WAS GIVEN HIS PRIVATE PILOT'S LICENSE FOUR DAYS BEFORE HIS 73RD BIRTHDAY.

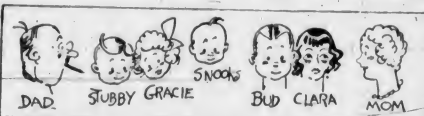

HE NOW HAS FLOWN OVER 250 HOURS AND HAS A FOUR PLACE CABIN PLANE WHICH HE USES REGULARLY FOR RELAXATION AND PLEASURE.

WALTER UPWARD, of Hollywood, Cal., is his own answer to the oft-stated fact that aviation is a young man's game. He was 78 years of age on June 22, and has been flying for five years. He was just four days under 73 when, on June 18, 1930, a Department of Commerce inspector handed him his private pilot license. He took twenty-two hours of dual instruction, i.e., riding with an instructor, before he soloed, and since has flown over 250 hours, enough to give him a transport license.

He presented himself for a physical examination to the Department of Commerce flight surgeon, who, according to Mr. Upward, thought it out of the question for a man of his age to have aspirations to be a pilot. For two hours the examiner checked everything and finally handed over the student's flying permit, which allowed Mr. Upward to begin his flying instruction. Today, after five years active flying, he is more enthusiastic than ever, and flies high performance airplanes with all the assurance of a youngster.

SYMPATHY
"If you are looking for sympathy," says the cynic, "try the dictionary." Sympathy, however, is a fairer appraisal of the human race, averring that every man would be a distinct species to himself were there no sympathy among individuals. Sympathy has undergone some modification from, though it still precludes much of its original significance. We have it as a combination of two Greek words meaning with grief, which lends it the sense of being the quality of being affected by that which affects another. From this idea of fellow-feeling developed the modern usages—the thought, for instance, of conformity, or accord of natural temperaments, among two or more people; and, more commonly, among others, compassion for one in pain.

TIRE COVERS WILL ADVERTISE VICTORIA
Victorians contemplating a motor trip through the United States this summer may co-operate with the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau in advertising this city by placing one of the bureau's attractive covers over the spare automobile tire. The covers are handsomely painted, showing a seagull in flight and bearing the slogan: "Following the Birds to Victoria."
The bureau has a limited number of these and will be pleased to loan them. Those desiring to distribute them from this idea of fellow-feeling developed the modern usages—the
